2. NEPSE Index · Intraday Overview

The NEPSE index chart gives a macro view of the overall market session. A rising index with increasing green volume bars confirms broad-based buying. MA overlays on the index chart highlight trend direction changes.

3. Close Price Overlay · All Symbols

Overlaying all symbols reveals relative performance and synchronised moves. Symbols that deviate sharply from the pack may be reacting to company-specific news or circuit-breaker activity.

4. Returns & Cumulative Performance

The % change bar chart shows each symbol's latest return vs its previous close. The cumulative return chart tracks how returns have compounded; a steep late-session climb suggests momentum buying at close.

5. Candlestick Analysis · Top Symbols

Candlesticks show the OHLC relationship per polling interval. A long green body signals strong buying; a long upper wick on a red candle suggests sellers regained control after an initial push higher.

6. Volume & Correlation

High volume in a rising stock confirms demand. The correlation heatmap shows how closely % changes move together — values near 1 indicate co-movement; near 0 means independent price action.

7. Session Summary Table

Latest OHLCV snapshot for all tracked symbols, sorted by % change. Green figures indicate positive returns; red indicates declines.
